

Anagrams have long been a popular topic for puzzle writers, so it seemed fitting that I should include one in this book also.

What is the longest word that you can make out of the following letters, using each letter once at most?

PACHINKO