

I have a calculator that displays digits using LCD seven-segment displays like so:

and that can also display arithmetic symbols like so:

It is currently displaying:

and I can tell that one of the segments in the display of one of the digits is not working.

Which one?