

Allen Smithee must be one of the most prolific film directors in the world. Since 1969, this name has appeared on more films than any director you can name. However, it seems strange that you probably haven't seen him being interviewed, or nominated for any awards.

Can you think why this might be?

